

Yezika's weekly report #2

12th of June to 18th of June 2006

It seems like you liked my first report, so i will continut with yet another one. I would have done it anyway.

Monday 12th of June.

After our success in Felwood yesterday Grove of Eternal Balance had a calm day today. We rested up a bit and took time to do what we wanted. At least that what i did. Did spend some hour fishing in Stranglethorn. I had better luck with the weather today, the sun was shining and i caught a lot of fishes.

Mayá had been talking about a mission she wanted to do into Dire Maul, and she gathered both me and Pyroykinitins along with a human friend of hers Bryen who also brought along his friend Maxi-

Eternal Vigil had been planing an attack on Majodomo Executus inside Molten Core, and we were suppose to strike this evening. It seemed we had underestimated his power a bit, and we were forced to withdraw from his lair. However we will not give up on him, and promised to return soon when we had talked thru the tactics a bit better.

Tuesday 13th of June.

I went up early today as i had arranged a meeting with the Ironforge Brigade in Silithus to help out with some problems they had with giant bugs. Seems to be lots of them in Silithus. It went very good, and they even assigned me to some other tasks for them. I might need some help from my dear guild thou.

Later in the evening Kiia, Mayá and me decided to try to cure some plants in Felwood. But the journey there were long and we got very tired when we reached the area we were suppose to cure. We decided to continue on it another day. We did however find the perfect spot for a ambush on passing Hordes. But i think the horde will easily spot two dancing bears rather quick.

Kiia and Mayá performed a dance show for me.

We also gained a newcomer to the guild today. Welcome Kelanai!

Wednesday 14th of June.

I woke up today smelling the fresh air of the sea and heard the water outside the door. I felt like staying in bed all day. But i had my duties to do. I walked of the boat in Auberdine and got something to eat from the local bakery. Auberdine is clearly a underestimated town. The beauty, the calm sound from the ocean and the forest. Somehow many seems to dislike the town.

I continued my journey south to Astranaar and from there north up to the cursed forest of Felwood. An representative from Emerald Circle asked me if i could bring back some items from the elementals found up in the northern parts of the forest, in return she should learn me how to clear diseased plants found in the woods. I meet Gandiral from our guild by a poisoned lake, she was also out on some mission, and had some trouble with a undead following her. The undead turned out to be rather strong. Guess we were very lucky when Rynera and Messaneo showed up and helped us to neutralize the threat. Thanks once again.

I did find the things the woman had asked me to find, and returned them to her. She then gave me a beacon that she said would help me gather the materials that was used to create the salve who could save the plants in Felwood. Feels like Grove of Eternal Balance is one step closer to finally cleansing the forest from it's disease.

Gandiral, Me, Messaneo and Rynera. The undeads new fear.

Me and Kiia then meet up in Darnassus. We decided to go to Barrens and try our fishing luck together. And we did very well. Found a perfect spot. However Eternal Vigil had sent out a request for help at the Blackrock Mountain, and Kiia felt it was her duty to go an help them, as many others from our guild also did. I however was to tired after the long day and returned to Auberdine. I was happy when i saw the boat at the dock and even more happy to see a empty bed inside the boat.

Thursday 15th of June.

Today was a big day for Grove of Eternal Balance. We did manage to take down our first big dragon. It was not any dragon, it was Teremus the Devour. I was scouting through the Blasted Lands in the southern parts of Eastern Kingdoms, and there it was. Slowly flying not high above the ground. Looked so peaceful, but as i got closer he begin to show a different side.

I decided to call for help, and it didn't take that long until we gathered some of our finest members in Blasted Lands and was preparing for the dragon fight. Kiia, Rynera, Doomer, Gandiral, Lainer, Pantalaimon and Charlie was all very curious to see the dragon, and we found him still flying around near Nethergarden Keep.

The fight was not any big problem for us. We are really good!

Teremus the Devour

We also took the chance to check out the Dark Portal and it's guardians. But... we are not yet ready for them. But not too long into the future we will go there again.

Friday 9th of June.

Finally the weekend was here. But for Grove of Eternal Balance that does not mean to rest. Rather the opposite. First Rynera wanted to have a look in the lower parts of Blackrock Spire to see if she could find the last crystal for her key to the upper parts of the spire.

You never know what kind of enemies who lurks in the shadows.

Not long after we got out from the horrible place it was time for the next. Molten Core had been on Eternal Vigils scheduel for today. However, we still have to leave Majordomo Executus alive. For this time.

Kiia and me tries to keep our brave Tazzle alive.

When we got out from the dark cave Kiia and me decided to take a trip to Stranglethorn Vale to relax a bit in a quiet place high up in the mountains.

Saturday 17th of June.

I kind of over slept a bit today. I however heard rumors about a dragon have been taked care of by Grove of Eternal Balance in Dustwallow Marsh. Rynera should have been the leader of that operation i think as she have been talking about it before.

Later at the night i did spend some time with Mayá's friends Lindsay and Bryen in Stormwind City. Very nice people, that i hope i will see more of in the future.

We ended up in Dolanaar a bit after midnight with Kiia and her sister Kioth. We had a talk with the priest Agro, from The Outlawed Guards. Kiia also made a surprisingly discover. Me and Kiiot almost have the same hairstyle!

Sunday 18th of June.

Today have been a strange day for me. I spended some time in Elwynn Forest with Mayá today talking with her about life. Was very interesting and learning. We also chased away one orc who had landed on the wrong continent.

Later i went to Stormwind City and meet Bryen at the canals. He told me he had some good news he wanted to see Mayá about, and i told him i would tell her that if i saw her again.

I don't know why, but Stormwind City also got invaded by reindeers.

Stormwind City got invaded by reindeers.

I didn't got a chance to ask what they were doing there before i got news about Kiia and Pantalaimon was in Silithus chasing bugs and had got a assignment to find a lost stone somewhere deep in the hives in the dessert. I really don't like those big bugs that have invaded the dessert, but after some traveling throug the tunnels we managed to find the lost stone.

After words.

The second edition of my newsletter finally got to the presses. Was a bit unsure if i would made it befor deadline. Have had my mind on something else most of the time, but... here it is.

If you want to contact me about something you can do it via our forum. Send me a p.m. or a mail. The address is <http://z7.invisionfree.com/GoEB/index.php>.

Thanks everyone for the week that has gone, and hope to see you all in the coming one.
